

Book of the Month for March

The book of the month for February is the latest publication by our favourite author, Linda Gilkeson. Its title is Backyard Bounty – Revised & Expanded 2nd Edition: The Complete Guide to Year-round Gardening in the Pacific Northwest, published in March 2018. This revised and expanded edition updates her original book of the same name.

Living on Salt Spring Island, Linda has an excellent understanding of the benefits and problems of gardening on the east coast of Vancouver Island.

First published 8 years ago, some of the updates include: the amazing role that soil microorganisms play in keeping our soil healthy; information on new pests and diseases; new crop varieties; and how to garden with the increasingly variable weather patterns due to global warming.

This would be a good book to refer to all year long, so we bought another copy for ourselves!
